

methods of detection are currently available each with its own pros and cons. A diagnostic algorithm based on histology and the relative frequency of TRK fusions in each specific tumor, considering also the economic feasibility in the clinical practice is presented (Fig 10).⁶

(Fig 10. Diagnostic algorithm for the identification of tyrosine kinase (TRK) fusion cancer.)